Mr. T. D. Pattullo May Be Liberal Standard Bearer
in Vancouver—Other Aspirants

(Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER, May 9.—With possibly two or three exceptions, British Columbia's fourteen sitting members in the present House of Commons are expected to seek re-election at the coming general election.

The province was a banner one for the Conservatives in 1926, turning twelve supporters of that party, while Hon. Dr. J. H. King, in Kootenay East, was the lone successful Liberal, and Mr. A. W. Nell was elected as an Independent in Comox-Alberni.

Brigadier-General J. A. Clark, M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard, announced some time ago that he would not run again. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative stalwart from Comox, Contingency, made an announcement, but it is generally accepted that he will reconsider his decision.

Rumors of possible appointment to the Senate have centred around Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Health.

FIGHT IN VANCOUVER

The Liberals undoubtedly will make strong efforts to gain ground in British Columbia, and a large part of the fight will probably take place in the Vancouver constituency.

The possibility was mooted of Mr. T. D. Pattullo leaving the provincial field, where he now leads the Liberals in the Legislature, to run in Vancouver and take over Dr. King's mantle as leader of the Federal Liberals in the province, should the latter go to the Senate. More light will probably be thrown on

LYNCH LAW IN CONTROL AT SHERMAN

Grayson County Court House Burned by Mob,
Who Implode Negro Prisoner

FRESH OUTBREAKS ARE REPORTED

SHERMAN, Texas, May 9.—A mob today burned down the $60,000 Grayson County Court House, cremating George Hughes, negro, after unsuccessfully attempting to seize him from officers.

Hughes, who had pleaded guilty to assaulting a white woman, died in a vault in the court house in which he had been placed for safety by Texas Rangers and local officers when the mob stormed the building, crying for his life.

HURL TEAR GAS BOMBS
Driven back three times by officers, who hurled tear gas bombs and shot into the mob and clubs but did not shoot, the mob finally set fire to the court house. An earlier attempt to dynamite the building, in the generally acknowledged sense of the word.

Scientific Apparatus
His explanation of the major differences between the two was that the submarine was almost entirely an instrument of war. In the craft he hopes to use, the explorer said, some scientific apparatus would replace all fighting equipment. The boat would be made over generally in the North, submerging under the ice when necessary and cutting its way again.

Peter Pan Creator "Is Growing Up"

Pair of Challenge Trophies Secured Yesterday in Quick Succession for Festival Events

SIR JAMES BARRIE

LONDON, May 9.—Sir James Barrie, creator of Peter Pan, confessed today on his seventieth anniversary that he was "growing up." The writer spent the day quietly at home, receiving reams of congratulatory telegrams. He remained indoors until evening, when he was the guest of honor at an anniversary dinner of the Royal Literary Fund.

Not many gained access to him and his only comment was "Yes, I am certainly getting up."

B.C.E.R. Trophy

VICTORIA High School attracted the spotlight of public interest yesterday afternoon by winning two challenge shields in rapid succession in Music Festival events. A big audience thronged the auditorium at the time, and gave the winners a generous ovation. The trophies were the F. W. Francis Challenge Shield, offered to the members of Class 7, girls' choirs who participated in the festival nineteen years; and the J. C. Pendray Challenge Shield, given to winner of Class 8, junior choirs from high school, Sunday school or private schools, under nineteen years of age. The F. W. Francis Shield originally reverted to the Victoria High School Choir, having been won by them at last year's festival. In the case of the Pendray Challenge

Storm Kills
Two; Fifteen
Are Injured

STIGLER, Okla., May 9.—A man named Hodges and his son, both known to have been killed, and at least fifteen persons were injured in a tornado which swept Haskell County shortly after 8 o'clock tonight.

The communities of Eureka, where the Hodges lived; San Bois, Rockford and Blaine were struck by the storm. All lines of communication were down and information was meager.

The funnel-shaped cloud struck near Kinta, in the southwestern part of the county, and went northward between Shiloh and Keota, apparently disappearing near the northern edge of the county.

John Stevenson, who lives near Eureka, was injured probably fatally when his home was demolished by the storm. Virtually every house in Eureka was reported razed.

Hold for Ransom

Five hundred of the more prosperous residents were carried off by the bandit to be held for ransom.

So thorough was the destruction of the town that no word of it came until today.

The massacre at Yungyang was the latest reported of a long series of outrages that for many months have occurred in several provinces. They are attributed to cold, famine and Communism.

CENSORSHIP WALL

Under the banners of the Northern Alliance of generals seeking to overthrow the Nationalist Government, some of the best trained armies in China were battling today, seeking to capture the Nationalist forces.

They were driven down the rail road near Suchow to advance upon Nanking. As customary when menaced by large scale revolt, the Government reared a censorship wall across the line of advance.

OFFICERS CHOSEN FOR ENSUING TERM

The fifteenth annual meeting of the British Columbia Dental Association was held last evening in the Empress Hotel, with the president-elect, Dr. Frank P. Smith, of Vancouver, presiding.

Previous to the business session, the members were addressed by Dr. H. E. Young, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, who spoke on preventive medicine, and dentistry, as carried on by the department.

For work, he explained, had been done on the Province for two reasons: (1) greater increase of health knowledge and (2) the economic standpoint. He traced the work which the Province was doing in aid of health work and how it was expanding.

He announced that a comprehensive dental survey of the province was now under way.

Dr. Young paid a tribute to the work of the women's institutes, and outlined the duties of rural nurses.

He explained the high mortality of tuberculosis in British Columbia due to climatic conditions bringing disease from other provinces to Indian reservations and the presence of many Indians.

At the conclusion of the address, Dr. Emery C. Jones, of New Westminster, was re-elected president.

CLOUDS OF DUST ENVELOPE PLANE

BAGDAD, May 9.—The romancers who concoct tales of what happens to pretty British girls who get lost in the desert and little chance of getting a job, today entertained Her Majesty at a Queen's Jubilee luncheon in the East End, where Her Majesty had an opportunity of seeing how the "other half" lives.

The Queen was visiting a nurses' training centre and said she wished to see one of the modest flats built by the Deptford Council.

A police inspector, accompanied by the Queen, knocked on the door of a flat. A man answered a "Derry hat" and an overcoat opened it.

"The Queen would like to see your house," said the inspector.

"Certainly," gasped Mr. J. M. Conley, the jobless lightheaded, and he escorted the Queen inside, showing her a whitewashed room with a double bed, a washstand, a chair and a small table.

"The Queen would like to see your house," said the Queen.

"That's a pity," sympathized Her Majesty. "I hope you get work soon."

She shook hands with the workman, and he is still trying to convince himself that it wasn't a dream.

Shield, however, it was wrested from St. Margaret's School. Mr. F. Waddington was the conductor of the winning choir in both instances. The runner-up for the prize in Class 7 was Norfolk House School, and in Class 8 it was Stratton Lodge School, Miss D. Baillie conducting the former, and Miss A. F. Britten the latter.

KEEN RIVALRY

Another great event in the afternoon, which drew a gallery of about 1,000 spectators, was the gymnasium of the Victoria High School, was the folk-dancing contest. In these colorful contests, which introduced twenty competing groups, the keenest rivalry was shown under conditions which were, perhaps, a nervous strain both to adjudicator and contestants, than any which the festival has created up to the present. The B.C. Electric Cup, offered to Class 90, for dancing for children under ten, groups of not more than sixteen, was awarded to Sir James Douglas School group in charge of Miss Smith, their dance being an Irish jig, danced with marvelous spirit and grace. Second and third place in this contest were taken by Willow School and Kingman's School. The B.C. Electric Cup was a tie, Girls' Central School, in charge of E. E. Lewis, dancing "Rufy-Tufy," and North Ward School, in charge of Miss Florence McNeill, dancing a Russian folk dance, each taking 98 marks. Second and third place in this contest were won respectively by Quadra School (Mrs. L. Griffiths) boys only, in "Bacca Pipe Jig," and George Jay School (Miss M. Samson), "English Ribbon Dance." The George McGregor Cup for Class 94, rural schools, folk dancing contest was won by Mrs. M. A. Curwen's Shawinigan Lake Public School group, each taking 98 marks. ### REPORTS READ TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Mr. P. B. Fowler and Mr. George I. Warren Tell of Activities of Past Year

CANADA IN SOUND FINANCIAL STATE

Reports dealing with work done and results achieved last year, were read at the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, which took the form of a luncheon in the Chamber cafe yesterday.

Mr. George I. Warren, secretary of the chamber and publicity commissioner for this city, reviewed the activities of the past twelve months, especially those which had to do with the building of a new auditorium and arena and the deepening of Seymour Narrows.

Mr. P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber, also made his report for the past year, which was in part as follows:

"Business conditions generally have been quiet throughout Canada since the latter part of last year, partly owing to the wheat tie-up, partly owing to a normal breathing space, which always occurs in any year for economic readjustments enjoyed during the last few years, and to a lesser degree to the stock market crash of last year. This latter item would have had very little appreciable effect by itself, as the Canadian economy is in such a very sound condition, and is so sensitive to conditions connected with agriculture that anything affecting this is bound to have a marked effect, especially as our vast excess of export over imports tends to a large extent on wheat. How far agriculture affects the country as a whole may be visualized in the claim of an economist that it takes eight industrial men in a city to work for agriculturists in the country. However, Canada's path is ever upwards, and the last word to claim that by the Fall of the year we shall be back in our old former stride."

elsewhere; business has kept up very well, collections, that barometer of our life blood, money, have been excellent, and if we are feeling any strain, it is not so large as that of wheat.

BANDITS SLAY AND DESTROY

HONAN MARAUDERS KILL 15,000 CHINESE AND RAZE MANY THOUSAND HOMES

Ally Themselves With Communist United to Log Districts and Destroy Property

By REGINALD SWEETLAND (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

SHANGHAI, China, May 9.—Killings of bandits in the last 15,000 men, mostly in the Yenan district of Honan Province, and slaughtered 15,000 Chinese, captured 500 others for ransom and razed several thousand Chinese newspaper here, which states that it received the information in a letter from Government officials in Kaifeng, provincial capital.

That massacre is reported to have begun on April 23. While no more is known, the attacks was in accordance with other bandit uprisings in various parts of the country, where outlaws recruited from the ranks of the armies, have allied themselves with armed Communists.

Entering the Yungyang district in early morning, the bandits looted villages and launched on a killing spree, in which the "pork you go" plan of our city. Some years ago this was necessary in view of increasing taxes, and to put the civic finances into A-1 shape. Now, however, it would seem to me that the time has come when permanent improvements should no longer be a total charge on current revenue, and that the necessary money should be raised by judicious long-term borrowing. I use the word "judicious" purposely, as the borrowing should be limited to an amount that will be of interest and sinking fund purposes by that amount of current revenue now used for permanent improvements. This would keep our taxes within present bounds and at the same time improve our city where necessary and do away with any tendency towards a down-at-the-heel appearance.

"I offer this in a humble spirit as I realize the wonderful work done by our city fathers during the last few years, and the courage, for it

ALLEGED ROBBER NOW IN CUSTODY

CRANBROOK, B.C., May 9.—Mike Watowski, charged with robbery with violence in connection with the theft of $10,000, the payroll of the B.C. Spruce Mills, at Lumberton, eight miles from here, late Thursday, has appeared before Magistrate John Lester, who remanded him and was remanded for eight days.

The theft occurred at the post office after Miss Edna McPhee, the company's stenographer, had received a registered parcel containing the money.

Watowski, it is alleged, knocked Miss McPhee down, seized the parcel and fled to the bush. He was captured shortly afterwards and the money recovered.

SURVEY OF FORESTS IS IN PROGRESS

Exact Conditions of Timber Will Be Obtained, in Comparison With Annual Replacements

THREE MAIN CAMPS PROPOSED

The parties which are to carry out the work of survey this year in the provincial forest reserves are now taking the field. Several of them are already in the woods, and entering upon their duties. This is a work that has been in progress for some time and has for its object arriving at the exact conditions which prevail within the areas examined, so that there may be available the amount of timber which could be cut from these reserves annually without impairing the future prospects of continued production.

In British Columbia, like British Columbia, where there are so many demands upon the forest branch, in order to keep abreast of the requirements, it is impossible to devote as much time as could be wished to this division of the work. The forest branch is carrying on this work to as great an extent as it is deemed possible to do so, without curtailing other needed sections of work.

TOTAL RESERVE

There is now a total under reserve in the province as provincial forests of 6,907,000 acres. This is embraced in twenty forests.

Last year there was added to the list from the Sayward Land District an area of 394,500 acres, which is now known as the Sayward Forest.

At present, the forest branch is carrying on its work to the best of its ability.

It is anticipated that with new projects in contemplation this may be increased.

TOTAL OBJECT

It is not deemed wise at present to place this forest on a sustained yield basis, as in the ultimate object in view in these forests. This is due to the fact that there is a very large area of old growth timber in the forest. About 80 per cent of the timber in the area is believed to be old growth.

The plans of the forest branch is to expedite the reforestation of the area by improved fire protection and other modern means in use.

THREE MAIN CAMPS

This year there will be three main camps in the field engaged in surveying for provincial forest purposes. One of these will be in the vicinity of Barron, Puntledge, and the north of Ketchikan. This will be one party in the Upper Elk River Valley near Pernie, and a third party will be located in the Flathead head country in the Southeastern part of the province. This territory is supposed to be adapted for the manufacture of pulp, and there have been some indications that there are opportunities for that purpose. There are also waterpowers available in the territory which would be auxiliary to the development of pulp manufacture.

In addition to these main parties, there will be other examinations made and surveys made in the forest. One of the parties will be engaged in the vicinity of Powell River. This has been logged over in large part, and it will be the endeavor of the parties in the field there to ascertain the rate of reforestation going on.

STAVE LAKE AREA

Another party will be carrying out surveys in the area of the Stave Lake District. This is a section in which there has been rather extensive logging, and part of it is being worked out in a large way. It has just come back to the province through the return of the Dominion railway lands. In this connection the region of Pitt Lake and Lillooet is included. The idea in view is to find the possibilities of this section in a forest way.

NEWS FROM INDIA

Some of our correspondents are critical in their views about the news from almost every source as it is printed in the newspapers. Take the news from India about the condition of affairs there. Because the telegraphic dispatches are disquieting in their effect upon the mind, it does not necessarily follow that they are not true. The Associated Press of America and Reuter's agency of England are the sources of the news furnished to the Canadian Press. Their representatives in all parts of the world are trained and reliable men and are instructed to verify the facts they gather before they put them on the wires. They are on the spot and in positions to get the facts, and most of the great British newspapers have their own representatives on the ground to check any sensational statements which may be sent out by irresponsible correspondents of foreign journals. The critics of the dispatches may have known a great deal about the conditions in India several years ago and the general disposition of the Indian people, but the conditions in India may change and the propaganda of Gandhi may have altered the public sentiments of the Indian people to the National Government. That riots have occurred and that lives have been lost are facts; that the situation in India is disquieting may be deduced from those facts. Those things are therefore news, and as news what can the newspapers do but publish them. Suppressing the news in this country will not alter the facts or improve the situation.

POLICEMEN AND PISTOLS

A week or two ago a young man in Vancouver was shot down by a policeman, and subsequently died. The victim of the bullet of the representative of the law, but not the legally authorized administrator of justice, was shot because he attempted to escape. He did not stop running when called to surrender and was stopped by a bullet. We commented upon that case before the result of it was known, before the death of the victim, before the policeman had been charged before the courts with manslaughter and acquitted by a magistrate. If we had commented upon the case while it was before the courts we should have been technically guilty of contempt of court, because that might have been construed as an attempt to influence the course of justice. Now that the case has been disposed of and justice has been satisfied or mollified, we are free to repeat what we said in the first instance: that shooting down people in Canada who are suspected of offences against the law is in itself an act against the law and should be stopped. The following article from The Vancouver Province most eloquently and convincingly supports our position.

In the Police Court on Tuesday, a charge of manslaughter laid against a constable who had shot and killed a man was dismissed. The magistrate decided that the shooting was accidental. The victim had been arrested on a charge of driving to the common danger and was trying to escape when the shooting took place. Early Wednesday morning, another constable found a man looting a grocery store on Fraser Avenue and fired at him through the window, wounding him, it is believed.

It is the duty of our constables to preserve order and prevent crime. But no one has appointed them judges and juries. Crown prosecutors, makers of our laws and public executioners. A constable who shoots at a man either because he can't arrest him or because the man is escaping after arrest is assuming all these functions.

Burglary is an offence and, under our law, certain penalties are assigned for it. But burglary is not a capital offence. Nor is driving a motor car to the common danger. Capital punishment is reserved for the very gravest of crimes and is never imposed except with due regard for every care to see that there is no miscarriage of justice. Yet the constable who fires at an escaping prisoner undertakes to impose this most dread punishment upon his own responsibility. In a constable, as it were, he inflicts the man, convicts him and passes under a law which he varies to suit his own purposes. He decides the sentence. It is very well to say that the constable, in shooting, has not intention of killing. But when a bullet is on its way, there is only an inch or two between life and death for the person toward whom it is pointed, and the constable can never be sure which it will be. Killing is not necessarily murder. But killing always means death.

Our constables are provided with pistols which other citizens are forbidden to carry because their calling is a dangerous one. The pistols are for self-defence, and if the constable's life is threatened, he has every justification for using his weapon. But killing is always meant death.

AN ORGAN IN ANGUISH

There was a time when our heart overflowed with sympathy for The Manitoba Free Press. At that time everything was wrong with the world, politically, economically, and in every imaginable way, and our contemporary was struggling valiantly to set all wrong things right. At that time The Despairing Free Press could not see any good thing in the King Government or in any other Government. It wanted all governments pulled down, with the idea, probably, of setting up perfect governments of its own design. But the vision vanished. The old political parties survived except in the parts of Canada where the really revolutionary ideas of the reforming organ have taken temporary root.

So the despairing organ of Manitoba Radicalism gave up the hopeless struggle and became an organ of the King Government because of its belief that it was what it professed to be, a Free Trade Government. Now the King Government has renounced the principles of Free Trade and betrayed the die-hard cause of The Free Press. The Dunning Budget was the last straw. The Free Press has been trying hard to swallow that budget. It has been gurgling and gagging for several issues with the big pill in its throat, but the dose will not down. It is too bitter as well as too bulky. Today our sympathy for the Free Press is deeper than ever.

But The Free Press does not complain of the government for its mental and physical distress.

It blames the farmers. It will continue to support the King Government despite its rage at the farmer. It says in words that quiver with anguish in its heavy editorial columns:

The Free Press does not pretend to argue at this time in case for the retention of the low preferential rate on New Zealand butter; our readers know that we have steadily resisted the movement looking towards its abolition. Ninety per cent of the case against low duties was fallacious. There has been no diminution in the Canadian dairy industry, taken as a whole, in consequence of the bringing in of New Zealand butter. This butter comes to Canada principally because this corresponding amount of domestic cream and milk was deflected to other and more profitable uses—much of it for export to the United States. It was taking the country as a whole, an economic advantage to have this cheap, palatable butter available for importation. This has been true in the last few years when the maker of Canadian butter could not sell his product in the domestic market for more than world prices—a fact which in itself destroys most of the case against the importation of butter. However, the Canadian farmers swallowed the Conservative propaganda, hook, line, and sinker, and took the country as a whole, as they demanded. The Free Press ventures the opinion that, except possibly for a brief period of time, it will be of no advantage to them. If it has the effect, which is likely, of encouraging production to the point where export is necessary, it will put prices throughout the country on a level which is higher than the level of the Canadian level. For this trivial mess of pottage the Canadian farmers have given away their moral right to object to an artificial enhancement, by tariff manipulation, of the tools they use, the machinery they employ, the clothes they wear, and the imported food they eat—should this be the effect of the present or a subsequent tariff.

The position of the Premier of Canada reminds us of the fable of the man with the donkey. He tried to please everybody, who pleased nobody and lost his effect in the bargain. The Dunning Budget was designed to please the farmers, and some of the farmers are the bitterest critics of it because it has gone too far. One of the foremost farmers of Ontario has severed a life-long connection with the Liberal Party because it has not gone far enough. Even the announcement of dissolution of Parliament has displeased many Liberal political politicians, who say it was an act of political folly to appeal to the country during a business depression, for hard times defeat governments. People who are not ardent party politicians then argue that a change of government cannot do any harm and it might do a world of good.

That little word Self-Determination: what a flood of woe it has released upon the world! It caused the withdrawal of Occidentals from China, and the Chinese factions have been fighting and killing, one another ever since. It was the inspiration of Gandhi in his pacifist movement for the liberation of India, and India would be in even worse case than China if the British were to withdraw from the country. It has raised vain hopes in the breasts of the Egyptians, and there may be trouble in Egypt too. Dreamers and theorists, like the lean and hungry Cassius, are dangerous, and should not be trusted.

It is said that the last has been heard of the notorious I'm Alone case; that it has been dropped by the arbitrators, maybe because the King Government thinks it has already gone too far in its embarrassments of the Washington Government. But it is also said that the Washington Government simply laughed at the country during a business depression, for hard times defeat governments. People who are not ardent party politicians then argue that a change of government cannot do any harm and it might do a world of good.

Equality of status in the British Commonwealth of Nations only exists between the sister nations. As a good mother, the chief nation consults them willingly, but she need, in theory, and in practice, only assume certain responsibilities of government, which she does with dignity, always having care to act in the best interest of the whole. When she agreed to the agreement not to resort to war to settle a dispute, Britain spoke proudly and nobly, in the fulness of her wisdom and her authority. And her word binds the sister nations of the Empire, her daughters. But when the same engagement is undertaken solemnly by Canada, the latter only speaks for herself, and does not bind any other nation. Her signature at the very most is equivalent to a public admission that she is associate to a decision announced by her administrative chief. If our Federal rulers stuck to this rather less pretentious and much more appropriate formula we should be finished with all this talk and counter-talk. To arrive at a true definition of a national and international situation is the commencement of political prudence—Quebec Eventement.

FESTIVAL AT FINAL DAY

Only Nineteen of Ninety-Eight Competitions Remain to be Decided Today

MALE CHOIR WIN K. OF P. SHIELD

With seventy-nine of the ninety-eight competitions in the 1930 Victoria Musical Festival definitely decided, public interest is narrowed down with concentrated attention on the remaining nineteen events which have yet to be decided in the competition today. The lively enthusiasm of the big audience which filled the Metropolitan Church last night furnished an indication of the splendid way in which the ideal festival spirit has survived the test of individual failure and success in the various classes and the various classes were generally applauded as they came forward to receive their prizes.

Although there were no big choral decisions at stake last evening, the programme held out hope that the final features, the winners of several of the day's best events being heard, and the finals in Classes 49, 32, 65 and 24 being adjudicated. The principal trophy up for competition during the evening was the Knights of Pythias Challenge Shield offered to male choirs by the Victoria Male Choir.

The Knights of Pythias Challenge Shield offered to male choirs by the Victoria Male Choir, was the only entrant in the class, and had an undisputed field.

Their singing of Charles Wood's "British Grenadiers" and "A Clear Midnight" was, therefore, more in the nature of an adjudication than a competition, although the adjudicator, Dr. Healey Willan, pronounced both performances excellent, and made occasion to congratulate both the choir and their conductor, Mr. F. L. Tupman, before declaring them the legitimate winners of the trophy.

To Give Mothers Day Address—Mr. Frank Le Roy past state president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Washington and British Columbia, left yesterday afternoon for Wallace, Idaho, where on Sunday, Mother's Day will be observed. He will address a joint meeting of the Wallace Aero. No. 54 and War Mothers of America, an organization of women who lost sons in the Great War.

NOTHING

Other adjudications during the evening pronounced Ima McCartney, of Vancouver, winner of Class 65, open violin, competing for the Luney Bros. Silver Medal; Maquinna Daniels, winner of Class 49, pianoforte solo for seniors, and Joanne Chalmers, winner of Class 32, vocal solo for soprano. The violinists were particularly close. Mr. Waterhouse, the adjudicator, analyzed his marks for the morning and evening tests in order to show how he arrived at the narrow margin between the two contestants.

McCartney's marks in the morning were 92 and 93, respectively for the (a) and (b) numbers; in the evening she received 91 and 94. Jessie Carter, of Portland, received 93 and 92 in the morning and 94 and the evening. Mr. Waterhouse admitted that he had found it so difficult to decide between these unusually talented players that he had deferred the final until he could get the assistance of the other adjudicators.

In passing judgment on the first and in the evening tests, Mr. Waterhouse admitted that he had found it so difficult to decide between these unusually talented players that he had deferred the final until he could get the assistance of the other adjudicators.

That Killers the Prophets?" was, if anything, on the robust side for oratorio, and would, therefore, appeal to the average audience.

Give Pulpit and Table—According to the last issue of The New Outlook, of Toronto, the organ of the United Church of Canada, a new pulpit and communion table—the gift of Hon. S. Lyness Howe, Principal Secretary of State for War, in memory of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrews—were dedicated in Grace United Church, Thornbury, Ont., April 20. The service was conducted by the minister, Rev. S. E. Anns. Mrs. M. Snetzinger spoke on behalf of the church, while Dr. A. E. Cummings and J. A. Burke represented the congregation.

Return From Up-Island—Mr. S. Halls, manager of the light and power department of the Esso Gasoline Company, has returned from a visit to Port Alberni and Qualicum and Parksville. At Port Alberni the negotiations looking for the submission of a by-law to vary the terms of the National Utilities contract with the municipality, were continued. At Qualicum he visited the new general store, and learned that Parksville was now connected up with the Qualicum plant, which was placed in service some time ago.

To Meet Conductors—Mr. Ronald Gibson, who acts as adjudicator of the choral classes at the Victoria Musical Festival, has requested that the conductors of school choirs meet him this morning at half-past 9 o'clock at the Metropolitan Church for a round-table conference.

Evening Programme

Dr. W. W. Francis, who with his infatuated happy personality has made him very popular with the evening audiences, again opened the programme last night with a delightful little organ recital. The audience was then treated to performances by a number of the outstanding winners of the day, the chief being the singing of Mr. F. Waddington's winning Victoria High School Chorus. The first winner of the F. W. Francis Challenge Shield, sang the two test pieces, Horn's "Trip Away," a delightful three-part song, and "Edward the Confessor," a light and cheerful piece, and the second, a choir of girls under nineteen years, winner of the J. C. Pendray Challenge Shield, sang the competition pieces, John Ireland's stirring paean, "Now Once Again Our Hearts" and "Praise of May." The critic had judge not only of the player's technical and musical proficiency, but on the impression created, and the mood sustained.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE LAID

C. E. J. Millins Must Face Trial as Result of Death Following Motor Car Collision

BAIL IS FIXED IN SUM OF $5,000

NANAIMO, May 9.—Mr. C. E. J. Millins, following the verdict at the inquest held here yesterday afternoon on Constantine Maki's body, was charged with manslaughter and released on bail in the amount of $5,000 in four sureties of $1,250 each. At 2:30 yesterday afternoon in the

D. J. Jenkins, Limited, juryroom, Coroner Hickling opened the inquest into the death of Maki, who died in the local hospital from injuries received in a collision with an automobile driven by Mr. Milhouse, a Chinaman, in front of a gas station. The following were sworn in as jurors: F. A. Hanna, foreman; P. L. Smith, Reg. Murphy, W. G. Moore, H. K. Hume and D. R. Sargent.

After viewing the body the hearing was adjourned for half an hour so that the jury could visit the scene of the accident.

The first witness was Dr. Ingham, who stated that he was called to the case on Friday of last week and found Mr. Maki in an unconscious state, and followed the case until his death on May 6 at about 8:45 p.m. He found the man had fallen on both legs and a cut three inches long on the left side of the head. In his opinion death was due to a fracture of the base of the skull.

EYEWITNESS TESTIFIES

William Currie, miner, of Chase River, testified that he was working in the field in the vicinity of the accident and saw the car hit Mr. Maki, who fell on his left side. He ran out and took hold of the horse which had run away and then got help and dragged Mr. Maki out. He was looking towards the gas station at the time and saw the car hit Maki and push the roller ahead. Mr. Millins, he judged, was going about twenty or twenty-five miles per hour, which was not an excessive speed, he concluded.

R. Aikenhead, teamster, Nanaimo, was at Chase River on April 30 and was 300 or 400 yards from the accident when it occurred. Mr. Aikenhead's evidence was very similar to that of Mr. Currie.

William Currie recalled that he was no relation to Mr. Maki, and said he was about 150 yards from the accident when he heard the car hit Maki and push the roller ahead.

Constable Jackson, Provincial Police, reported on the scene of the accident, stating that when he arrived Mr. Millins was sitting beside the car. He was sober. He asked how it happened and Mr. Millins said he did not know. Asked if he had put his foot on the brake, he said he had put his foot on the brake, but it might have slipped off. Mr. Millins' car was going south. There were skid marks on the pavement and pieces of wood and bark from the roller which had been pushed seventeen feet. There were no skid marks.

Asked by Mr. Leighton what would make the roller skid, he said he thought the bumper of the car, being on top of the roller, would act like a brake. In answer to Mr. Leighton he said there were boulders in front of the roller on the right side.

Mr. Millins then took the stand, and said he was driving south, and saw the roller about in front at 1:45 p.m. He did not count on passing until he was approaching the car had slowed to allow it to do so. By this time he was close to the roller, much closer than he thought, but did not slow down sufficiently to miss the roller. He thought he was traveling at the same speed as the roller, subconsciously, and the roller was traveling faster than it really was. The car stopped and he put out the clutch, got out and saw Maki lying on the ground. He telephoned for a doctor and stayed until the doctor came. He also telephoned the police.

UNABLE TO REMEMBER

He realized he should have stopped, he said, and didn't remember the car hitting Maki, and was unable to understand how it did not stop from his position at the right of the roller. He said he had to rear up and felt the car being pulled along in jerks, as if by the roller. As far as he could remember the whole body was on the ground, but he could not swear to that, in fact, he could not swear definitely as to the exact place where the car hit. The answer to questions from the jury, he said he had driven a car for a long time, and had his eyes tested about a year ago and they were all right. He thought at the actual time of the collision he was traveling about five miles per hour.

In answer to Sergeant Russell he said the car and roller had not been touched until the arrival of the police. The jury brought in its verdict after being out several hours.

WEDDING OF POPULAR COUPLE

NANAIMO, May 9.—A wedding which caused a great deal of interest locally, inasmuch as the contracting parties are well-known in Nanaimo and vicinity, especially among the younger set, took place in the First United Church—St. Andrews—at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the Rev. F. W. Anderson united in marriage Miss Margaret English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph English, Halliburton Street, to Mr. Ronald Ingham. Miss Hannah Hale acted as bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by his brother Douglas.

Churches and Their World-Wide Work

CHOWN CHOIR WILL REMAIN

Vancouver Chorus to Lead Musical Service at Metropolitan Church—Missions at Night

DR. SIPPRELL WILL PREACH

Rev. Dr. Sipprell will occupy the pulpit of Metropolitan Church at 11 and 7 o'clock after an absence of two weeks in Toronto attending an important meeting of the Foreign Mission Board of the United Church of Canada.

He will preach at the morning service in connection with the commemoration of Mother's Day. This has been a feature in Metropolitan Church for several years, and all who can so arrange are invited to wear a white flower in memory of mother or a red flower in honor of her presence in the home and church.

At the morning service the Chown Union Church Choir, of Vancouver, has given the musical entertainment and take full charge of the music. This choir is visiting Victoria and will have appeared at the Saturday evening session of the Musical Festival in competition with the First United and Metropolitan Church Choirs. Chown Choir, under its recently-appointed conductor,

Heads Social Service Board This Year

REV. C. W. VERNON, D.C.L.
Who has been elected president of the Board of Social Service for the year 1930-31 at the annual convention held this year at Toronto, Ontario. Mr. Vernon is secretary of the Social Service Board of the Church of Canada.

Mr. Burton Kurth, has reached an enviable standard among the choirs of Vancouver. It will be a great treat to the people of Victoria to hear this choir on Sunday morning when they render the anthem, "O King, All Glorious" (Healy Willan), unaccompanied; the quartette will sing, "Still, Still With Thee," and Mrs. Burton Kurth will render the contralto solo, "The God of Love and My Shepherd Is" (Dvorak).

At 7:30 o'clock Dr. Sipprell, under the title of "A Present-Day Pentecost," will offer a most interesting and inspiring service. The theme of the service will be "The Ministry of Children in the World." The Sunday school children and adults will worship together. The sacrament of Baptism will be administered in the morning at the Gorge, and the Misses Jean and Florence Acheson will render a duet.

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Henry Street, Victoria, West on Sunday, May 11, at the morning service at 11 o'clock, the minister, Rev. J. S. Patterson, will preach on a Mother's Day topic. Special programme at 2:30 o'clock in the Sunbeam school. The theme will be "The Mother-Heart of the World." The 7:30 o'clock service will be "Mothers Bringing Their Children to Jesus." Special music will be given by the choir.

Mother's Day will be observed in Victoria in West United with a special programme at the morning service, which will be given largely by the students of the Sunday school, united with the regular congregation. The junior choir will render a suitable anthem and the pastor will give an address entitled "Mothers Make a Difference." At the evening service the senior choir will provide a special music and the pastor, Rev. J. Armitage, will take for his theme, "A Mother's Throne." A cordial invitation to be present is extended to all those helpful services.

An exceptionally attractive musical evening is being arranged by Mr. Frank Tupper, choir leader, for Friday, May 16, in Centennial Church, when a selected number from among the prize winners at the Musical Festival will give a grand concert of instrumental and vocal music and recitations.

Mr. A. F. Barton will occupy the pulpit at both services of the Progressive Thought Temple tomorrow. At 11 o'clock he will speak on "Fulfilling the Law," a sermon designed to emphasize the importance of the Golden Rule as it is effective today as it was 2000 years ago. In the evening at 7:30 Dr. Barton will present the second part of his lecture on "The Psychology of Love."

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Barton will give a health lecture on "Reading Your Own Eye," and will give a lecture on "The Psychology of the Eye." Dr. Barton announces that he will present drugless healers from every school of thought at the Temple during the coming Summer months.

PROPHESIES
BRIGHT FUTURE FOR CANADA

Mr. W. Sanford Evans Gives Inspiring Address to Chamber of Commerce Members

ENERGIES MUST BE WISELY DIRECTED

"With Canada's splendid resources behind us, we can face the future with confidence. The economic strength of our position would not justify any other attitude," said Mr. William Sanford Evans, first president of any Canadian Club, in addressing the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

"My impression is that general conditions in Canada are at least as good as in any other part of the world today. It is true that we are passing through a period of readjustment, but this is a logical outcome and gives no cause for grave concern."

"If we consider the tremendous scale on which Canada is built physically, we realize that her huge mountains and prairies are indicative of the massive and unshakable strength of this country. What we have, we have in vast quantities, and this very fact constitutes one of our chief problems, since today Canada offers the world's chief reserve of undeveloped resources."

ENORMOUS SUPPLIES

"In the year 1923, those who grew wheat on the prairies had to find well over 75,000,000 people to consume their product. Of our apple crop, at least 40 per cent is surplus, and this is another factor which has to be faced."

"Remember that, in the aggregate, there may be such things as 'over-production,' but it is very possible that there may be misdirected production. I often wonder whether we Canadians are not inclined to over-theorize. We are too apt to think that the building of a magnificent dock, with granite and steel, and a great port is all that is necessary to attract shipping, and the same thing applies to the building of our elevators."

"There are certain fundamental laws of trade which we cannot afford to neglect. We must get unit costs down by producing quantity; we must also produce quality; and quality will be the keynote to the market of the time."

ARTIFICIAL CHANNELS

"We cannot compel demand, and we are mistaken if we attempt to divert the natural trend of commerce by digging artificial channels. We should rather place ourselves in a position where we can anticipate the natural flow of trade."

"Trade does not always proceed by grades, but it is true that the market which lies before Canada should prove stimulating, owing to the need for diversification."

"We must watch the set of outside influences, such as that from Europe, which has been affecting our wheat market for the past twelve months. Above everything, it is important to realize that emphasis should be given to shortening the hours of labor to any marked degree. The solution to our problems, rather, lies in hard work, wisely directed."

"The prospect, moreover, is full of romance, the romance of magnitude, the romance of vast stretches of primeval forest, the romance of the as yet unexplored and, perhaps, unconquerable North."

"We are the makers of Canada the greatest civilization in the world; and if we can, we should; and if we should, we will."

Mr. J. O. Cameron moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Evans at the conclusion of the latter's inspiring address.

TO DEMONSTRATE GRADES OF BEEF

Meeting for Housewives Will Be Held on Wednesday at Chamber of Commerce

Housewives of the city will almost certainly be keenly interested in the demonstration of specific cuts which is to take place in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, May 14.

Arranged by the Provincial Government at the instigation of the Dominion Government, which has recently awakened to the fact that there is an appalling wastage of beef, the demonstration, based on knowledge of the proper cuts, the demonstration will be carried out by a competent representative of the Federal Government sent out by Ottawa and Mr. George Sangster has arranged to see that the best cuts, in both wholesale and retail, will be shown, and the housewife will be shown some of the lesser known cheaper parts of the beef which, although assiduously neglected at the present time, make excellent dishes when properly prepared. After attending the demonstration, she will know how to distinguish a good cut when she sees it, and also what kind of a cut she is entitled to get for certain prices.

At the present time the demand for specific cuts is resulting in a great wastage of beef and the housewife will be the conductor to this. By teaching the housewife how to use a wider range of cuts and thus consume the whole beef, the wastage is eliminated and the price cheapened.

It was in the restaurant in one of the smaller towns in England. "Have you any oysters?" asked the waiter.

"Any lobsters?"

"No, sir."

"Any new wine?"

"No, sir. The only shelfish we have is herring, sir."

AUTHORITIES OF MIAMI ADOPTING
"CHICAGO" PLAN

MIAMI, Fla., May 9.—Adopting the "Chicago Plan," the authorities of Miami have given Scarface Al Capone the choice of leaving or being arrested every time a policeman sees him.

The police picked him up yesterday and held him in jail for "investigation" for two and a half hours before a circuit judge freed him on a writ of habeas corpus. They're going to do it again when he appears in the city, they told Capone, as he is due to be back in Miami Parkland without waiting to exchange a receipt for $1,000 in cash and a diamond he valued at $10,000, which police took from him.

6½ Billion Dollars

BACK of our Canadian homes is more wealth than the mind can conceive . . . a vast financial reserve which is destined to protect us and our loved ones from want and privation.

Perhaps you have seen the help that just one Life Insurance Policy for $10,000 has brought to many a home in the day of trial. Multiply this one incident by 650,000 . . . and you can picture the future work of Life Insurance now owned by Canadians. For six and a half billion dollars is the amount Life Insurance Companies have contracted to pay to living policyholders or their beneficiaries.

As an investor in Life Insurance, your savings aid enterprise in the financing of new buildings and other important projects throughout Canada. They help to provide employment for thousands of Canadians and thus contribute greatly to our national prosperity. Six and a half billion dollars is a large sum of money . . . but it represents an average protection of only a little more than $2,000 for each Canadian family . . . enough to yield an income of about two dollars a week! When you measure your own Life Insurance by the income it will provide you will learn if it is sufficient. Any Life Underwriter will gladly suggest a solution to your problem.

At The Playhouses

COLISEUM Sounds a bit out of the ordinary, yet Leila Karmelley, beautiful Russian actress, though really entitled to the prefix of countess, dictates the title. Miss Karmelley dons the pretense role of "Olga" in "The Cock Eyed World," soliloquizing on the basis of a talkie test. Raoul Walsh, who wrote the scenario and directed from a story by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, admits he had never seen her until she appeared in the picture.

CAPITOL Timothy Shea's best-selling novel, Sarah and Son, will be seen in its all-talkie filmized version at the Capitol Theatre for the last times today. Ruth Chatterton is star of "Coming Home," "The Doctor's Secret," "Madame X," and "The Laughing Lady." Nancy Carroll plays the role of Sarah, the neglected wife, who, by sheer force of ambition and mother love, rises from pathetic poverty to glorious romance and wealth.

ROYAL Today the last two performances of "The Naughty Wife" will be given at the Royal by the Gordon McLeod Players. This is one of the most delightful of the long series of plays that have been presented by this company. Next week is the last of their season, which will be followed by a vacation. The last offering is to be another comedy, but of quite a novel type, and with a novel setting. It will be entitled "She Got What She Wanted," and is one of the best plays that has ever put before an audience.

VARIETY Those who love thrills and laughter combined in a play have had a veritable feast of pleasure at the Variety Theatre this week, where the Toby Leitch Players are offering the sensational Broadway success, "The Great Chinese Wall."

This modern comedy simply skintight, with hilarity, and, in addition, it is distinguished by drama of the most exciting kind, with supernatural happenings to send icy shivers down one's spine.

AMUSEMENTS

On the Stage

DOMINION The talking screen produced jazz singers, blues singers, hot singers and crooners into the realm of some there is a new classification to add to the list. Miss Pitts is the audible screen's first "wailer." She brings a new technique forward in "Honey" Nancy Carroll's second starring production, which is now at the Dominion.

PLAYHOUSE Just one big thrill after another, with love and adventure crowding in is the way Tiffany's all-talking special "The Zepelin" is described. This great production with Conway Tearle, Virginia Valli and Ricardo Cortez heading a distinguished cast, will be seen at the Playhouse Theatre for the last times today, was built for speed and thrills through-

Says Terrible
Slackness in Relief Dept.

VANCOUVER May 9.—While he would not say there had been actual dishonesty, terrible slackness—what amounts to almost an entire lack of effort—has been observed by the city relief committee, Mayor W. H. Malkin stated this morning following a secret meeting of the council committee now investigating the situation.

The committee decided to call on Harrison, Macmillan & Co. to make an independent audit of the department's books and to proceed with the investigation, starting Monday morning, probably calling employees of the department as first witnesses.

CONSTRUCT WALK AT LANGFORD LAKE

LANGFORD May 9.—Following a resolution passed at a previous meeting of the Women's Institute, an appeal has been made to Hon. R. H. Pooley, member for the district, to use his influence to have the present path continued from Langford School to the lake as, on account of the fact that the part of the road is exceedingly dangerous for pedestrians, children and babies in perambulators. In consequence, this footpath is now under construction.

"PAGLIACCI"
The Pagliacci is a name given to a group of strolling clowns who are to be found at Italian village festivals. They specialize in pantomime, singing and comedy, which they perform under the shelter of their own tents.

Many years ago, it is recorded in the public records of Montalto, a small town in the Italian province of Calabria, that one of the wandering mimes slew his wife. He was immediately apprehended and tried before the local magistrate, who sentenced him to prison. The trial disclosed that the accused man had been clowning before audiences when at the same time his wife was in a series of fits of hysterical fits, until finally his temper conquered him, and he committed the murder. He was probably the fore-runner of those clowns who had to make merry although their hearts were heavy.

During the trial he defiantly proclaimed that he had nothing to repent and was convicted on the facts of this long drawn out trial, which would reveal that the judge who sentenced the murderer was one Leoncavallo, father of the future composer, Ruggero Leoncavallo. The son was an attentive spectator at the trial, and it made a lasting impression on his mind.

In early boyhood Ruggero Leoncavallo studied piano and augmented his musical studies with a course at the Neapolitan Conservatory. At the age of eighteen he became an instructor of piano,

and when too few students were forthcoming, abandoned this calling for another which would at least assure him a weekly stipend. He journeyed through France, England and Egypt playing piano accompaniments at cafe concerts. But the urge to write did not desert him and Leoncavallo wrote a dramatic poem dealing with the Italian Renaissance, which he submitted to the most prominent publisher of his native land. He was told to set this writing to music for the operatic stage, and he promptly complied with this request. After patiently waiting for several months he was disappointed to learn that his offering had been rejected.

In despair, he visited a rival publisher who encouraged him to keep on writing. He determined to make one more effort, and this time the episode that occurred in the town of his birth, of the pagliaccio who murdered his spouse, revived itself and he set about to weave a story around this roving player and his companion.

For five long months the impetuous composer lingered over the book and music of "Pagliaccio." It was accepted upon a first reading and immediately produced in Milan on May 17, 1892. Both the story and music was hailed as melodramatic and intensely absorbing. The author-composer, in his opinion of it, within a play, the development came as a tragic ending of a comedy. Leoncavallo made use of an old, but effective idea, where a man, while apparently playing a part in a drama, avenges himself by committing an actual murder.

"Pagliaccio" proved Leoncavallo's greatest success, and no other opera equalled it in public esteem.

FROSTY NIGHTS NIP VEGETATION

Strawberry Plantations Caught by Lower Nocturnal Temperatures
—Early Potatoes Blackened

The succession of frosty nights which have prevailed since last Saturday night has been attended with serious results from the standpoint of the gardeners and fruit growers in some lines. The heaviest loss may be in the case of strawberries, but it is yet too early to estimate with any degree of certainty the damage done in this particular direction.

The strawberry crop came up to the bloom stage during the past week or so, with an indication on the Island that the crop would not be much better than one per cent of that in the last season. There were various reasons for this, principal of which was that following the fruiting season of last year the berry plants passed through an exceptionally dry summer and early Fall, and entered the winter poorly prepared for the coming season.

BERRIES HANDICAPPED

To add to the drawbacks in this regard, the frosty nights which have continued frosty week on which spelled disaster to many of the plantations. It was therefore but poorly prepared for the bearing season that the berries started this Spring.

Now, with the bloom opening about to open, has come continued frosty nights, which will have the effect of lessening the production to a marked degree. In some sections, especially on the high ground, the loss was not great. In the low lying sections of the berry growing areas, however, the loss seems to be much as is feared.

The reports received by the berry growers here from the Mainland indicate that the loss was more severe there than on the Island.

It is not believed that in the case of cherries there will be a heavy toll from the frost.

EARLY POTATOES SUFFER

Early potatoes which were above the ground were cut off in many parts, although in some of the other sections, however, the potatoes escaped with little damage, except that the weather conditions have not been such as to induce rapid growth.

With the price of potatoes high this Spring there has been a disposition on the part of the public material to increase the planting of this crop.

THE OPTIMIST

Uncle Jerry was optimistic, always seeing the silver lining to what had been. He had been a member of the relief committee, been to the hospital, been to jail, and his feet were seared. "Uncle Jerry" said a friend, visiting him in the hospital, "this is awful." "Oh, well." Uncle Jerry replied, "it doesn't matter much. They were always cold, anyhow."

Miss Julia Stokes died recently at Newport, Isle of Wight, aged 103.

composed an opera based on the tragic life of Thomas Chatterton, which was promised an early production in Bologna, by a friendly impresario. This production never materialized, and Leoncavallo, who eagerly looked forward to financial rewards for his opera, found himself penniless.

He became an instructor of piano, and when too few students were forthcoming, abandoned this calling for another which would at least assure him a weekly stipend. He journeyed through France, England and Egypt playing piano accompaniments at cafe concerts. But the urge to write did not desert him and Leoncavallo wrote a dramatic poem dealing with the Italian Renaissance, which he submitted to the most prominent publisher of his native land. ## CHAPTER XIII

Crooked Bill's well-laid plan worked with the precision of a notebook—thanks to Roberta. Her heart filled with sympathy for her rascally old uncle, was cheered considerably by the sight of Glenn Hackett, who had come to the door when she came down to dinner. To her airy greeting he returned one of the utmost gravity, so Roberta, jumping instantly to the conclusion that Crooked Bill had been talking his affairs over with him, abruptly precipitated the drama, much to the relief of the principal actors.

"Well, Glenn," she said, "has Uncle Bill been telling you his sad story?"

Hackett nodded owlishly.

"Do you see the slightest glimmer of a silver lining in the dark clouds that beset him, Glenn?"

"All appears to be lost save honor, Bobby."

Crooked Bill raised a protesting hand. "Let us not discuss it, it won't please Bill. I am past help now, so let us forget it and glean what meagre measure of comfort may possibly be wrung from a wasted career. Remember, girl, I'm not the whimpering kind."

"I know you're not, dear Uncle Bill. You're a perfectly good old sport."

"I admit it was knocked for the count at first, but now that I have my second wind—"

"Save it for your cigar, dear. I have just had a long telegram from my lawyer in Los Angeles. That's all I know, but the affairs of Uncle Tom's estate are in excellent shape and the cool crop is in—"

There are about ten thousand lambs that will soon be ready for market and which should bring ten dollars a head and there are upwards of a hundred thousand pounds of excellent wool, worth thirty cents a pound—well, it would seem that Uncle Tom's estate will run close to half-a-million dollars. We should worry and grow wrinkles and gray hair, darling."

The butler announced dinner—and between the fish and the roast, as he served it, Glenn's eyes suddenly laid down the knife and fork and commenced to question Crooked Bill adroitly as to the exact nature of his operations in the market. And when Crooked Bill had answered all of his questions and Glenn Hackett had made a number of notations in a notebook, he resumed his meal in silence. Roberta, however, noted a grim little smile playing across his face from time to time, so presently she caused him to share the joke with them.

"It's on your Uncle Bill," he replied. "At the risk of being ungracious to my host, it is my duty to inform you, Bobby, that your Uncle Bill is an antediluvian idiot who can't see the woods for the trees. He can't see his way out of this mess he's in a path as wide as the boardwalk at Atlantic City. Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow Uncle Bill will no longer be a financial corpse. He will have compensated his resume requirements. By the way, I have been talking his affairs over with him."

"Well, Glenn," she said, "has Uncle Bill been telling you his sad story?"

Hackett nodded owlishly.

When Crooked Bill looked and spoke in that tone of voice, Roberta knew from experience that obdience was incumbent upon her. Amiable and loving as he customarily was, there were times when he must not be provoked. This was one of them. Roberta's eyes filled with tears; in a tremulous voice she begged to be excused and withdrew.

Crooked Bill's eyebrows went up as the girl left the room. "She's as big a crook as I am," he declared. "She's as bad as I am, I'm sure. She's a tress. She's just pulling the old card now, but this time, but on you, my boy. She expects you to follow her out and comfort her. She has just given birth to the bright idea we have planted in her brain, and now she wants to give you the benefit of this idea in a path as wide as the boardwalk at Atlantic City. Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow Uncle Bill will no longer be a financial corpse. He will have compensated his resume requirements. We should worry and grow wrinkles and gray hair, darling."

The butler announced dinner—and between the fish and the roast, as he served it, Glenn's eyes suddenly laid down the knife and fork and commenced to question Crooked Bill adroitly as to the exact nature of his operations in the market. And when Crooked Bill had answered all of his quesher a burglarious look and there was murder in your voice."

"Listen to me, son. If you want to hold on to me as a client, if you ever expect to finger another retainer from Crooked Bill Latham, don't pester him with questions. I know my business. The girls play-acting, Vanossie!"

Glenn Hackett "rammed." Within five minutes he returned with Roberta on his arm.

"Hum!" Crooked Bill growled. "And she spent at least a minute making up her face! Four minutes to put over her loving plot against me. The little crook. He became unkind, "and so sorry, so anxious to my little girl," he announced with hypocritical unctuousness.

Bobby kissed him fondly and gave him a little hug, the butler passed the roast beef for fresh hot cuts, and Glenn Hackett began discussion on international tennis, to be interrupted presently by Crooked Bill.

"Overtime," Hackett responded.

"I guess I must be some little old prognosticator, eh?"

"You certainly know every convolution in Roberta's mind. I'm sure I never would. She'd outgame me every time she started."

while we have the title to the cellar let's go to it."

Had Crooked Bill lived in the days of Demosthenes there is no doubt that he would have run the Oracle of Delphi out of business.

Roberta did sing to them after dinner. "How come you mynahs? You had a bachelier in the South Sea Islands—end on an island where they practice polyandry!"

Thoroughly disgusted he returned to the house and mixed himself a noggin of his favorite elixir.

He had a presentiment that Fate was, in a manner of speaking, stacked the cards against him.

"Was she nice to you after I left?"

"Well—er—ah—Platonic."

"Aagh!" Crooked Bill growled deep in his throat, like a gravedigger. "Go home, you mynah. You had a bachelier in the South Sea Islands—end on an island where they practice polyandry!"

Thoroughly disgusted he returned to the house and mixed himself a noggin of his favorite elixir.

He had a presentiment that Fate was, in a manner of speaking, stacked the cards against him.

GENERAL MOTORS OWNER SERVICE POLICY

FUNDAMENTALS of General Motors OWNER SERVICE POLICY

1. A warranty of 90 days or 4,000 miles (whichever shall occur first) against defects in material or workmanship. This applies to every part of the car, including all original equipment, except tires.

2. Replacements under the warranty are made without any charge to the owner. This applies to labor as well as to material.

3. During the period of the warranty, the owner may change his residence to, or travel in, any part of Canada and the United States—and still enjoy the provisions of the warranty.

4. The owner will be given a free inspection and adjustment, by the dealer from whom he bought his car, at 500 miles, and another at 1,500 miles, providing this mileage is reached before the expiration of the warranty period.

5. After the expiration of the warranty period, an owner requiring service is protected by the use of genuine General Motors parts and a system of flat-rate charges which are fair and reasonable.

GENERAL MOTORS OF CANADA, LIMITED, has always realized that no matter how much value it builds into its cars, the final satisfaction of their owners depend upon the service provided by factory and dealer.

Inspired by this realization, General Motors of Canada, Limited, has consistently led the way in broadening the scope of owner service. It pioneered in the establishment of service schools for dealers' mechanics, in the inauguration of "preventive service", and in other equally important developments.

The service leadership of General Motors of Canada, Limited, has never been more evident than in the General Motors Owner Service Policy—the most complete ever made available to Canadian automobile purchasers.

This policy is now in effect for the benefit of buyers of General Motors cars. Not only does it anticipate the quality of service an owner expects after he has bought his car, but it combines with General Motors' standards of sound engineering, rigid supervision and thorough testing, to completely protect your investment in a Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Marquette, Oakland, Viking, McLaughlin-Buick, LaSalle or Cadillac.

As exemplifying this broad service policy, one provision in particular merits the attention of all prospective new car purchasers. It is the clause entitling every owner to the free replacement—by any dealer in Canada or the United States handling the same make of car—of any part (except tires) that proves defective in material or workmanship, within 90 days after delivery, or 4,000 miles of driving, whichever may occur first. This applies to labor as well as to material.

The policy itself takes the form of a written and signed agreement, presented to the purchaser by the General Motors dealer, when the car is delivered. It states in plain understandable language, the definite service to which the owner is entitled. Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is the most complete and efficient service organization in Canada.

There are more than two thousand authorized General Motors parts and service outlets throughout the Dominion. Parts distributing warehouses are maintained by General Motors at Oshawa, Saint John, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver. No matter where you travel in Canada you are not more than a few hours away from a General Motors parts depot.

Visit your nearest General Motors dealer today and ask for full details regarding the Owner Service Policy. Read over its complete provisions. Together with General Motors unsurpassed standards of manufacture, the Owner Service Policy assures your lasting satisfaction with whatever General Motors car you may prefer.

What Uncle Billy Didn't Know

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Some selfishness may have its use, even though it seems without excuse.

—Mrs. Quack.

He swam out into the middle of the river.

settled himself for a nap. Yes, sir, that was what he did.

Uncle Billy Possum was disgusted. He didn't want Mr. Quack to sleep. But there was nothing he could do about it. Perhaps after he had a good nap, perhaps Mrs. Quack was close by. What could be more natural than for Mr. Quack to take a nap near the place where his mate was sitting on the eggs. So thought Uncle Billy and felt better thinking it. Just back a little while later he heard a noise. Uncle Billy climbed the tree and crept out on a branch where he could look down on Mrs. Quack. It was a splendid place to keep watch. He could look down among those old clumps of wild rice in all directions. His eyes gleamed with eagerness. He felt sure that Mrs. Quack had laid her eggs in the nest he had made for her, and he felt equally sure that the instant she moved he would see her.

But time slipped by and nothing happened. Mr. Quack continued to sleep. Once Uncle Billy saw a Muskrat swimming. Finally, Mr. Quack awoke, shook out his feathers, raised himself on the water and flapped his wings.

"Now," said Uncle Billy, "Brer Mallard will go sit on the ails while Sis' Mallard goes to get something to eat."

But Brer Mallard did nothing of the kind. He swam out into the middle of the river. You see, there was something that Uncle Billy didn't know, or he wouldn't have been wasting his time watching Mr. Quack. He didn't know that Mr. Quack is somewhat selfish and leaves the care of those precious eggs entirely to Mrs. Quack. He didn't know that Mr. Quack usually doesn't lay off by himself after the eggs are laid. He goes off by himself, joins a party of others of his kind, who are also selfish and leave the care of the eggs and young to their mates. Of course, there was no one for Mr. Quack to teach here, so he was staying by himself. Mrs. Quack's nest was not down at the Big River or anywhere near the Big River.

Uncle Billy remained up in that tree for the rest of that day. Mrs. Quack swam across the Big River and didn't come back. Then Uncle Billy began to wonder if Mrs. Quack's nest was across the Big River. He couldn't quite believe that, however, for he had not seen Mrs. Quack up in the Smilin' Pool?

"Ah'll done go back to the Smilin' Pool?" thought Uncle Billy. "Ah reckon Ah mus' have made a mistake somehow. Seems lak' Ah must have some of those ails."

Turnover on New York Exchange Is Smallest Volume in Two Months

NEW YORK, May 9.—The stock market slithered along on slippery feet today, content to plod in narrow rut, but finding itself on generally higher ground at the end of its uneventful five-hour day.

In sharp contrast to last Monday's 8,000,000 share turnover, the volume barely exceeded 3,000,000 shares, the smallest total in two months.

Trading was almost entirely in the hands of the professional bears, who took pot shots at a few stocks, notably United Aircraft and Warner Bros. Pictures.

The foreign markets eased. Demand loans were firm at 3 per cent.

FEATURE ISSUES

Stocks featured in the day's dealing included Loew's, which touched the new 1930 high of 94 1/4; Borden's up 2 points to a new high; Goodyear Tire up 4; and Southern Railway up 2 3/8 net to 115, which continues to lead the market.

United Aircraft sank 4 points, recovering slightly. Motors, copper and oil shares were well supported. United States Steel, after dipping below Thursday's close, finished with a net gain of 1 1/2. American Tobacco B rose 2 points. Advances of 1 to 3 points appeared in American Smelting, Electric Power & Light, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, General Motors, Canadian Car and International Harvester, New York Central, Public Service of New Jersey, Standard Oil of New York and Granby Copper. Manhattan Electric Supply dropped 5 points to another new low.

FOREIGN CURRENCIES

Foreign currencies showed an easy trend. The Spanish peseta declined 7 points on news of political disturbances.

The bond market moved slightly higher today under the influence of foreign issues and the dollar's rally.

Several carlins registered the highest prices of the year as time money again eased. Share feature bonds, particularly the convertibles, strengthened.

PEND OREILLE GAINS STRENGTH

VANCOUVER, May 9.—A display of strength and activity in Amalgamated featured today's trading session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange. This issue has been climbing steadily for more than a week, and today it soared 7 cents to 38, on heavy demand.

Ethel—"Are you getting your moustache on the hire purchase system?"
 Reggie—"What do you mean by that?"
 Ethel—"Well, so much 'down' to start with and further tiny instalments for life."
 Reggie—"Well, did it?" she replied, as she started to rearrange her disheveled hair. "Well, it was worth it, wasn't it?"

"You know, that tunnel we passed through was two miles long and cost $12,000,000," said the young man to his sweetheart.
 "Oh, really, did it?" she replied, as she started to rearrange her disheveled hair. "Well, it was worth it, wasn't it?"

Treaty for Preservation of Halibut Ratified by Canada

Premier Mackenzie King and Mr. B. R. Riggs, for United States, affix signatures to Document Replacing Agreement Signed in March, 1923

OTTAWA, May 9.—A treaty between Canada and the United States for the purpose of securing the preservation of the halibut fisheries in the Northern Pacific and Bering Sea was signed today in the office of the Prime Minister, Mr. King. Mr. King signed on behalf of Canada, while Mr. B. R. Riggs, United States Charge d'Affaires, signed for the United States.

The new treaty has grown out of the former halibut treaty signed at Washington in March, 1923, by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, on behalf of Canada. Other provisions of the old treaty set up a commission which was empowered to make an investigation into the life history of the Pacific halibut. This commission conducted an extensive investigation over a period of years, and finally reported to the Government of Canada and the United States. The new treaty brings into effect important recommendations made by recent international commission.

The report of the commission was to the effect that the halibut fisheries of the Pacific and Bering Sea were actually depleted and recommended that proper Government authority be given to establish areas in each of which limitation as to the total quantity of fish that may be taken therefrom may be fixed, and that such limit may be reduced from time to time as found necessary.

MANY DEVICES TO AID AIR SAFETY

Seven Revolutionary Constructional Details Mentioned by Fund Committee

NEW YORK, May 9.—The "fool proof" aeroplane hasn't been made yet, but there is a great deal of work being done in preparing for flying the Daniel Guggenheim fund committee said in making public its final report, on the international safe air-craft competition. In summarizing the results of the test, the committee, headed by Mr. Orville Wright as chairman, said that the following revolutionary safety devices had been proved practicable.

1. Automatic leading edge slots. These are small wings attached to the forward edge of the wings and giving them greater lift. When the edge slot is immovable, it proved to be a deterrent to high speed and of unproved value at low speeds.

2. Flaps either automatically or manually controlled. These are extensions on the rear edge of the wings, which can be lowered to decrease landing speed or to give lift.

3. Retracting ailerons. These are to be extensions of the lower wing tips but do not contribute to the supporting areas of the lower wings. They differ from all other types of ailerons, the report said. "In that they at all times assume a position which is parallel to the relative wind set up by the motion of the aeroplane in flight."

4. Landing gear with provision for locking in the position assumed under load. This is a shock absorber of the usual type construction landing gear. It allows steeper angle in landing.

5. Extreme range adjustable stabilizer. This is the tail plane, larger and with a greater range than usual, making it easier to control when the load in the plane is changed.

6. Brakes. Independent brakes on each wheel, which aid in manœuvres.

FURS FROM NANUK TAKEN BY PLANE

MOTORSHIP NANUK, NORTH CAPE, Siberia, May 9.—Flying in a Fairchild cabin plane, pilots Joe Crosson and S. C. Robbins arrived here yesterday from Teller, Alaska. They are engaged in transporting furs from Nanuk to Alaska for shipment to United States markets. They recently took two plane loads of furs to Nome.

ADVERSE WEATHER DELAYS AIR TRIP

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Adverse weather conditions over the Northwest and Southwest, reported by the weather bureau today, caused an indefinite postponement of the flight of Mr. Roscoe Turner, Los Angeles pilot, to attempt a record transcontinental speed flight. Turner had hoped to get away tomorrow.
